"Global warming, conflicts around the world, amazing advances in science and technology ... During this time of historic upheaval, it is today's children who will bear the burden. If that is the case, isn't it time for children to talk and think about their own future?" With this in mind, we the NPO Supratarka are working to expand the communication network among children around the world. And now, as an extension of that, we have decided to try our hand at crowdfunding. Please take a look at the article. 本田勝也.
